

Anastasia Andreou

President, ESN Cyprus

I'm Anastasia Andreou, a 25 years old passionate young and the current President of ESN Cyprus. I hold a BSc in Journalism from the University of Cyprus and currently pursuing an MSc in Digital Art and Design at the University of Nicosia. My academic journey is marked by excellence and a passion for creative expression. My educational pursuits have been enriched through international experiences, including Erasmus studies in Budapest and an Erasmus traineeship in Seville. My leadership capabilities shine through my positions as President and former Communication Manager of ESN Cyprus the past three years, where I coordinated my team and represented our organization internationally and nationally. Education and Advocacy is one of the main responsibilities of the President. As the President of ESN Cyprus, I play a pivotal role in fostering collaborations between Higher Education Institutions and various stakeholders related to the Erasmus+ program. This includes coordinating with national and international partners to enhance the Erasmus+ experience for students, seeking new collaboration opportunities to expand the network and resources available to our members, and representing ESN Cyprus at various platforms. Ensuring effective communication and cooperation among the involved members is the key. This role demands leadership, strategic thinking, and excellent organizational skills. Characteristics that I gained throughout the 4 and a half years as a volunteer in ESN.
