

Florian Hebeisen

Board Member, Swiss National Youth Council - SAJV

Florian Hebeisen is the definition of the politically engaged generation Z. As board member of the Swiss national youth council SAJV the Swiss student advocates for young voices to be heard. The 19-year old is also board member of the Swiss students organization USO and has therefore meaningful insights into Swiss high schools. His political roots are to be found the European climate justice movement, where he gathered experience in communications and social media. His scientific work in the field of political digital campaigning was just honored by the Schweizer Jugend forscht foundation and received the evaluation “very good”. His keynote-speeches addressing the inclusion of Generation Z into current decision-making are much appreciated by Swiss NPOs and event-organizers.