

Lilla Györffy

I am Lilla Györffy, an external representative for the European Scout Region. I have been a Scout for 14 years now, serving as a patrol leader for years, then becoming part of the International Commissioner's team and a volunteer for the European Region. I am mostly dealing with the topics of non-formal education and climate action, but I am passionate about all the values that Scouting represents. Otherwise, I try to always be close to nature by climbing and hiking, and to form an active part of society by doing diverse volunteer activities and serving as a medical doctor in the future.
