

Wondwosen (Wondy) Asnake KIBRET

Wondy is a Policy and Partnerships Coordinator with the UN Environment Programme based in Geneva (UNEP/Europe). He is responsible for the development and implementation of a wide range of partnership activities in the areas of environment sustainability, governance, health, education, and public participation with partners including governments, sister UN agencies, private sector, civil society and academic institutions.

He leads UNEP's engagement in regional ministerial processes, including Environment and Health, Regional Forum for Sustainable Development, Education for Sustainable Development (ESD), One Health, and facilitates the participation of governments, major groups and stakeholders (MGS) in the work of UN Environment Assembly (UNEA) through regional and sub-regional consultations and programme delivery.

He actively contributes to the implementation of the 2030 agenda, while promoting the role and positioning UN Environment on SDGs at the regional, sub-regional and national levels, including substantive inputs to the work of the UN Sustainable Development Group for Europe and Central Asia and its Issue Based Coalitions (IBCs), and Geneva based UN and other intergovernmental processes, and promoting integrated approach for environmental sustainability at national level.

His background in development, economics, and public health.